

Stockings Milk Tea

Taiwan

Simple introduction

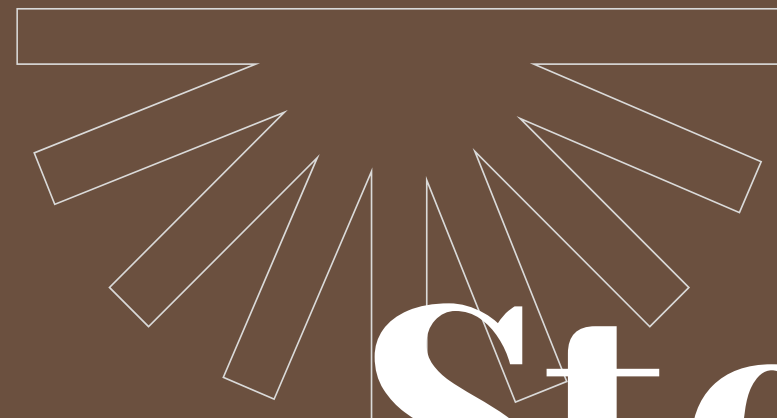

- AKA "Pantyhose Milk Tea"
- Originated from Taiwan

The name "Stockings Milk Tea" comes from the method of filtering the tea through a cloth resembling the material of stockings, which helps achieve a smoother texture and more refined taste.

Stocking-like filter

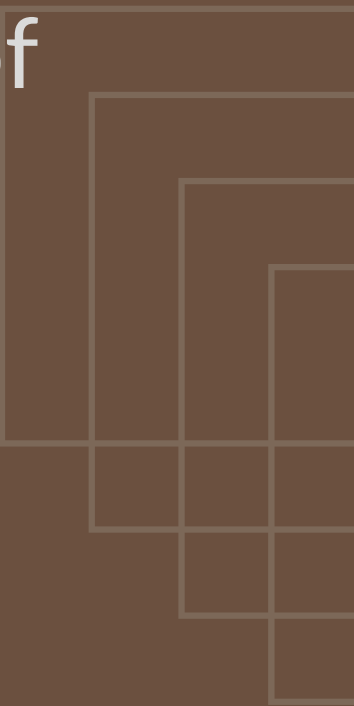

Story Behind

In the early days of Taiwan's tea culture, tea vendors faced the challenge of creating a smoother and richer tea without compromising its flavor.

Traditional methods of filtering tea often resulted in a coarse texture and inconsistent taste.

In the quest to overcome this challenge, tea vendors experimented with different filtration methods. Eventually, they discovered that using a cloth resembling the material of stockings produced the desired results. This fine mesh material allowed the tea to be filtered multiple times, resulting in a smoother and silkier texture.

Teahouse & Innovations

Taiwan

A sense of theatre and authenticity

Teahouse & Innovations

Taiwan

Inspired innovation culture of milk tea

Tea aficionados and entrepreneurs have experimented with different variations and flavors of Stockings Milk Tea, incorporating ingredients such as fruit syrups, tapioca pearls (commonly known as boba), and even alcoholic spirits. These adaptations have contributed to the widespread popularity of Stockings Milk Tea and its evolution into a versatile and globally recognized beverage.